2. 12 The battle goes on

Kalchas drumming in his tent filled with steam. Achill sitting at the fire.

The Troian force collecting at the plain near the Greek camp. The force is divided into two parts. The first one with Hektor is in line near the camp. The other one hides near the river.

Hektor leads the men. He did put on the blue armour of Achill. Hektors speech to the men.

Hektor: Friends, warriors, companions in fight!

All of you saw, what barbaras trailed to our home. Soon we can't live here anymore. The stink of spoiled whale will be unbearable. That's why we want to fight now. Time has come for decision of that unwanted war.

All of you did show, that you stand upstairs to the enemies, you are fighting with large power. That's not enough today, you did see the weapon of the barbaras. Don't think for your own body anymore, we will be united a new force, the one fights for all and all fight for the one. We will roll over the barbaras, we press they down, like a hammer. We will drift they into the holly river Scamandros until it is red from blood. We are a unit and fight as never before. Do not pardon anybody, kill all of them with your swords. We will fight until the last of the Greek did leave our homeland, or may be Theos helps the Greek, then we fight until the last breath for our home. Beat the barbaras.

I, men, I will lead you with the holly armour of our largest enemy. My power is multiplied and no spit ore will cut my skin. I will give you way and you will follow me. Victory is our, and Achill has to die. The barbar will die, just as Cassandra prophesied: Earlier than I. Yesterday she saw the death beside him.

Men, I say: follow me and soon Greek drift away from our home. Forget any other and fight, fight until victory or death!

We will divide our force now, the mainpart will fight under my leading, the other unit with Aineias will attack the Greek from the back. Together we drift them into the river. They will be drowned like the cattle in the high water.

Let us pray together to the most powerful god, that he helps us and increases our power.

For our victory!

Victory!

men: (Cheering) Victory, victory!

The Greek force with Ajax and Odysseus has to fight without the Macedonian troops. The battle is terrible for them. One part of the troops is drifted into the river. Hektor is the great captain. Agamemnon and Menelaos watch the battle from a hill away.

A scene in the battle: In the crowd a Troian puts a Greek man at his hairs, cuts with his sword the head from the body, turns himself with the bleeding head, the objective is splashed with blood, and throws the bleeding head to the fleeing greek people. Then the face of the man, then the bleeding head in the gras.

Agamemnon: Watch there: They do ambush. That is death for a lot of good men. Oh Theos, help us in this bad hour!

Menelaos: It's better to hope, that the Macedonian starts to operate soon. Otherwise all men die.

Agamemnon: Hektor is drifting our hero's like a herd of sheep's. And already new sacrifice is given to horrible Ares. Watch, Menelaos, they drift our troops into the river. Water will be red coloured. Oh, pity for us.

Menelaos: (angry) Why does the Macedonian not fight!

What is he waiting for!

Agamemnon: Meura appeared this night. She realised my part. It was, like spreading of honey on my mouth and at the same time any word has been a beat into my face. It was real nonsense.

Menelaos: It was a dream, don't worry.

Agamemnon: You know who has been Meura?

Menelaos: Yes.

Who was it?

Agamemnon: Briseiis.

Menelaos: (surprised) Yes, real?

Agamemnon: Yes.

Achill with colored face leaves Kalchas tent and goes to the smith-workshop. There is his carriage with his horses. Diomedes is waiting there. Achill goes to his horses.
